COMPUTER SCIENTIST RECEIVES DOCTORATE

Peggy Wright, a computer scientist at the Engineer Research and Development Center Information Technology Laboratory, recently completed the requirements for a doctorate in computer science with a minor in industrial engineering from Mississippi State University.

Wright also holds an associate's of science degree in data processing from Hinds Community College, a bachelor's degree in computer science from Mississippi College and a master's of computer science from Mississippi State University. Throughout her academic pursuit, Wright has maintained a 4.0 grade point average.

ERDC includes all of the Corps of Engineers dispersed research and development facilities and supports the Army and the Nation with high quality research, leading edge technology, and state-of-the-art facilities. The ERDC organization consists of eight unique laboratories in four locations: Construction Engineering Research Laboratory at Champaign, Ill., Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory at Hanover, N. H., Topographic Engineering Center at Alexandria, Va., and the Coastal and Hydraulics, Structures, Geotechnical, Environmental, and Information Technology Laboratories in Vicksburg, Miss.
